

Zintulo
Private Safari Lodge

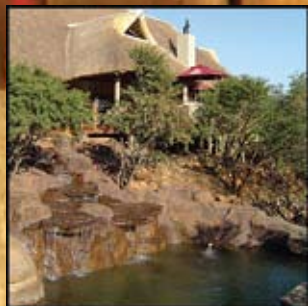

Zintulo Private Safari Lodge, nestles within the Malaria free Nambiti Big 5 Conservancy, situated in the Northern KwaZulu Natal Region of South Africa.

Resting in the outer lying foothills of the mighty Drakensberg Mountains, Zintulo overlooks the gentle rolling hills and floodplains which possessively hide and protect the life giving Sundays River that flows through the conservancy.

The main lodge has separate dining and lounge areas incorporating three warm wood burning fireplaces. These areas enjoy spectacular views day and night.

The lodge is complemented by a wrap around viewing deck with a Jacuzzi. The deck flows down to the rock splash pool which carries through to the outdoor boma complete with fire pit and dining area. These areas all overlook the wildlife filled valley below.

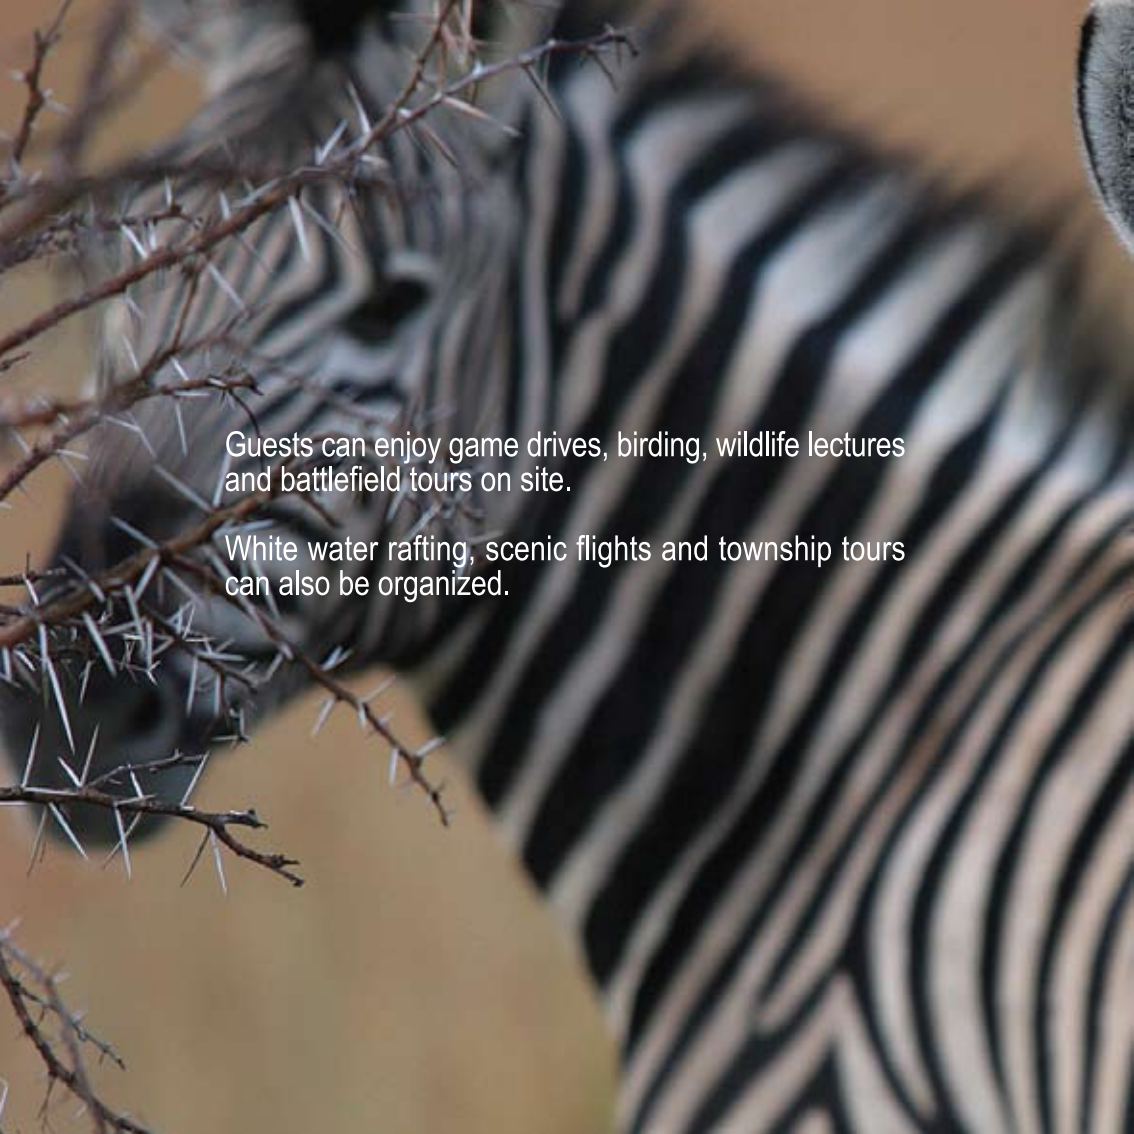

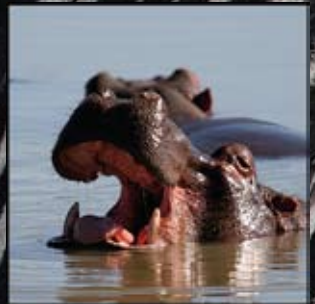

Relax in your elegant suite with private viewing deck. Enjoy the open plan double shower, with splendid bush views, or laze in the double bath. You will be kept warm and cozy with the under floor heating.

Guests can enjoy game drives, birding, wildlife lectures and battlefield tours on site.

White water rafting, scenic flights and township tours can also be organized.

A woman with blonde hair is sitting on a cushioned surface, looking out of a large window. She is holding a white mug and smiling slightly. The window shows a scenic view of a landscape with trees and a clear sky. The lighting is warm and natural, suggesting a sunny day.

Zintulo Private Safari Lodge is situated in the Malaria free Nambiti Conservancy, 25km's east of Ladysmith. Zintulo is only 3 ½ hours from Johannesburg, 2½ hours from Durban or 40 minutes from the Drakensberg.
